

$8,000,000 Entry Forged In Union Pacific Books

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 2.—David Lamm, a Wall street operator, and one time confidante of Russell Sage, Jas. H. Keene, and other financiers, amazed the senate lobby committee today, testifying that he impersonated representatives Palmer and Riordan in a telephone conversation with

Lewis Cass Ledyard, Paul D. Cravath, Robert S. Lovett and other prominent financiers, telling them that Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer could do great things for them in Washington. He also made the detailed charge that in the Union Pacific books was forged in 1901 an item covering $8,000,000, one result being that Kuhn Loeb & Company and the late E. H. Harriman laid the foundation for their gigantic fortune. Cravath asserted the forged charge was false, and part of the bear campaign to depress Union Pacific stock.

The agreement was announced today in court as the trial was about to begin. He is better known as Earl Compton, aged 27, and recently succeeded to the title.

Might Must Back Our Rights To Keep the World's Respect

(By Associated Press.)

NEWPORT, R. I., July 2.—Theodore Roosevelt addressed a gathering of Rhode Island leaders of the national progressive party here today on patriotism and national honor, and made a plea for the maintenance of adequate naval strength. Congressmen who vote against two battleships a year, he said, were "on a level with men who voted against fortifying Hawaii and our stations in the West Indies. These men are unfit to represent the American people, and they by their actions invite national disaster and humiliation."

He characterized as wicked any advocacy of arbitration where national honor and interests are concerned, and said that to enforce the Monroe doctrine, to retain Panama, Alaska and our insular possessions, to determine what aliens and on what terms they shall come to this country demanded the power to "back up our words with deeds."

who opposed a two battleships a year policy, he continued:

"There is, however, a lower depth even than that plumbed by the men who seek by their votes in congress to keep up impotent to protect ourselves. This lower depth is reached by those who, while voting against every measure to provide us with means to protect our honor against any foreign foe, nevertheless, by foolish, brutal and insulting utterances concerning foreign powers, expose us to the liability of war which they themselves by their actions have striven to render it impossible for us successfully to undertake."

"There could be no worse type of public servant than those congressmen, who first do all they can to prevent the American people from being able to uphold their interest and honor in the event of war, and then do all they can with wanton and ignorant folly to plunge us into war. Remember always that in such case these men would not themselves be the ones to suffer."

"In such event these men almost always themselves remain in safety, and let their misconduct be atoned for by other men, by brave men who pay for it with blood, by patriotic men who perform have to pay for it with shame."

"The only safe and honorable course to follow is to combine absolute courtesy and justice toward other nations with that preparedness for war which is the only sure means of averting war."

"We have the right to insist on the Monroe doctrine; we have the right to insist that we, and we alone, are to decide as to what immigrants shall come to our shores and as to whether these immigrants shall become citizens of our own land; these and other similar rights are not merely rights, but duties; we should show the utmost courtesy and consideration for the feelings of others in insisting upon them; and we should also realize that it will in the long run be idle to insist upon them unless we are ready to back up our words with our deeds, and that to do this it is necessary to keep our navy of adequate size and at the highest pitch of efficiency."

CINNABAR SHOWS SIXTY PER CENT IN QUICKSILVER

SAMPLES FROM THE NEW CAMP OF PEPPER RUN INTO FABULOUS VALUES.

Samples of cinnabar received in Tonopah this morning from the new camp of Pepper near Mina are rich enough to turn the heads of the Rothschilds who are said to control the market for quicksilver. One piece carries over sixty per cent mercury and others run so high that the original locators have been spurred on to the greatest activity in developing their claims.

Summerfield, Shepherd and Holman Buck have already got down to digging and are going ahead as fast as they can under the circumstances while Pepper and Keough are busy getting equipment and supplies on the ground preparatory to beginning work on a large scale. They have one of the most attractive tunnel propositions in the state. By driving a distance of 800 feet they can stop down the whole mountain or install a steam shovel plant. The ore will be treated on the ground as the method of reduction is cheap, requiring a standard furnace with appliances for saving the vapors. The section abounds in water and fuel. Cordwood can be laid down at the camp for $1.50 a cord.

PIONEER IS CALLED HOME BY DEATH

While looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to an early return to his home of many years in Austin, death stepped in and took away Samuel Crescenzo, one of the best known pioneers in Nevada. Death occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lucy Clifford, 339 Ralston street.

Early yesterday morning he complained of severe pains and walked out of his room to speak to his daughter. Suddenly he fell and life was extinct before Mrs. Clifford realized what was taking place.

Mr. Crescenzo was 80 years and two months of age. He was a native of Naples, Italy, and came to Austin in 1863, where he has been in business ever since.

LADIES ARE READY WITH PROGRAM FOR THE FOURTH

ALL FLOATS AND COSTUMES SHOULD BE COMPLETED THIS EVENING

The Fourth of July committee begs everybody to complete their plans today. Remember, tomorrow is the third—the contest will close at noon and the young lady who has been chosen Goddess will be invested with her robes of distinction. All floats must be ready tomorrow night for the parade will start at 9:30. The costumes must be made. Don't fail to bring all your old hat trimmings to the library and any old paper fans you may have. Tomorrow is the last day for everything. Get ready. The committee on patriotic exercises under the able management of Mrs. J. Wesley Stewart have a fine program arranged. Judge Sanders will be the speaker of the occasion and there will also be patriotic recitations and readings by Mrs. Steele and Lavoy Davis. The musical program has been arranged by Mrs. C. C. Cook and Mrs. Roy McDonald and will include patriotic songs by the school children and the women of the combined choir of the Presbyterian and Catholic churches and the choral society of the Tonopah Woman's club.

Don't forget the free show at the Butler theater all day long. Don't forget the fire works from eight until 9:30. Don't forget the carnival at ten. Mr. Carl has promised a real band. Any young lady who would like to ride as aides to the marshal of the day is requested to report to Mrs. Wm. Grimes.

Nothing was known of his condition and it was only by his mother wanting him to go on a message that he was saved from death. Horton must have been in the bathroom for a couple of hours before inquiries were started as to his whereabouts. The maid who was appealed to by the mother said she had seen him enter the bathroom some time before. The mother then tried the door and found it locked. With her fears aroused and a lively apprehension of the worst possibilities she summoned the painter who forced an entrance and found the boy lying unconscious against the door where he apparently had tried to effect his escape when he found the deadly stupor had taken possession of his senses. Before he could unlock the door he felt where he was found. He was in such a feeble condition that it required the continued efforts of a couple of doctors for two hours to restore him to his senses. After recovery the boy could not explain anything save that he found himself growing weak and sought to admit air or escape when he succumbed.

HORTON M'KIM HAS CLOSE CALL FROM ASPHYXIA

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN A BATH-ROOM OVERCOME BY ESCAPING GAS.

Horton McKim had a narrow escape from death last Saturday at his summer home in Oakland where he was visiting with his parents. They occupied a suite in one of the large apartment houses down by San Francisco bay where the use of gas is general throughout the building. The bathroom is supplied with a gas appliance for heating water for the tub and no trouble had been experienced until last Saturday when a leak evidently developed after the Tonopah youth had entered the room.

Nothing was known of his condition and it was only by his mother wanting him to go on a message that he was saved from death. Horton must have been in the bathroom for a couple of hours before inquiries were started as to his whereabouts. CYANIDE POISON CONTRACTED BY HANDLING TIN

MRS. DUNWOODY THE VICTIM OF WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN A FATAL ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Dunwoody, the popular socialist orator, is showing a crippled hand sustained through inadvertently handling a piece of tin which had been used for a cyanide container. Her husband had been roofing an annex to the house, using old oil cans. Not having enough of these useful vessels for the purpose he secured some cyanide cans which he opened and laid out flat in sheets. He did not have time to finish the job before going to work and later in the day Mrs. Dunwoody began to clean up the premises. A fever blister on one finger broke and a trace of the deadly poison carried on the tin penetrated the skin. The lady was not aware of this fact until she noticed the hand begin to swell and felt a queer action of the heart. Then she realized her danger and how she had unwittingly been poisoned.

With great presence of mind she ran into the house for an antidote and found there was no peroxide around. Then she seized a bottle of carbolic acid which had not been used for such a length of time that the contents had crystallized. Pouring in water to dissolve the acid she applied it to her hand, which she bandaged. The insidious poison had, however, entered her system and she did not know what would happen, so she thought it would be well to leave a note for her husband. Sitting down she told of the experience of what she had done. As she remarked later, she did not know whether she was going to live a minute or an hour, but she was determined that no one would suspect her of suicide if she died before help arrived. The whole proceeding was done with method and coolness that is all the more surprising when one considers the fact that Mrs. Dunwoody was alone and some distance from the help of neighbors. Others in the same plight would have wasted their energies in rushing forth frantically screaming for aid but the lady was as calm as though she were attending to her domestic duties.

By the time she got this far the feeling of faintness had vanished and the swelling of the hand began to show signs of reducing, indicating that the antidote was effective. Mrs. Dunwoody has only a swollen hand scarred by carbolic acid to prove her narrow escape.

MISS MINNIE PYNE SUFFERS DOUBLE FRACTURE OF ANKLES

Miss Minnie Pyne, a teacher in the Goldfield public schools and sister of Mrs. Joseph Stenson of Tonopah, met with a singular accident last week in a Los Angeles apartment house. On coming from the bathroom which was reached by a couple of steps above the floor of the hallway she slipped and fell, fracturing both ankles which will cause her to spend the remainder of her vacation on crutches.

Arrangements have been made to bring the body to Reno on the evening train. The funeral will be under Masonic auspices, Harris having been a member of Escurial lodge of Virginia City.

He was born in Dayton, Nev., and has lived in Virginia City, Carson and Reno. Misses Edith, Grace, Elaine and Enid Harris are his sisters and Gordon and Everett Harris his brothers. He graduated from the university of Nevada in 1911 with the highest scholarship honors, winning a gold medal for excellence in his studies. He was captain of company A of the university cadets which, under his leadership, won in competitive drill the right to carry the colors.—Reno Gazette.

KILLED INSTANTLY BY A SHOT FROM AN AUTOMATIC

WALTER HARRIS FOUND DEAD IN HIS OFFICE AT VIRGINIA CITY.

Scouting the theory of suicide, friends of Walter C. Harris, whose body was found yesterday in the office of Emmet D. Boyle of Virginia City with a bullet through the temple, are convinced that the young man came to his death by accident while he was toying with an automatic pistol.

The fact that only one bullet was in the gun, the magazine not being in place at all, strengthens the belief that death was accidental. Only a few days before his death Harris had remarked to Boyle that he knew nothing about the operation of the gun, a weapon which belonged in the office. For some time Harris had been engaged in an intricate piece of draughting and had just completed the work. It is added that if he had had any intention of killing himself he would not have put it off, and that he would certainly have loaded the magazine of the gun.

The Reno Gazette of Monday says:

Harris is said to have been of a very happy disposition. Sunday he telephoned his home and asked his mother to visit him today. Just an hour before his death he had danced a mock skirt dance in a spirit of fun. When the body was found at 3 o'clock the ink in the draughting pen was still wet. It is thought that the tragedy occurred about 2 o'clock. A coroner's inquest was held last night.

The only worry of which Harris' friends know was in regard to his eyes, and this is not thought to have been serious. His friends are unable to see how a theory of suicide could be feasible.

Death was instantaneous. The body was discovered by William Dunwoody of Silver City, who went to the office of John Matheson and notified Dr. F. W. Hodgins.

A. J. Canton and Richard Keman of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank, where W. J. Harris, the boy's father is cashier, went to Virginia City yesterday and attended the inquest. Mr. and Mrs. Harris went down as soon as they received word of the tragedy.

Arrangements have been made to bring the body to Reno on the evening train. The funeral will be under Masonic auspices, Harris having been a member of Escurial lodge of Virginia City.
